August Week Festival

The University is going to wake up! After a term in the doldrums the place is going to come to life for one glorious week from August 10—14, when the "August Week Festival" will be held.

Readers of this paper will remember Mr. Scott's eloquent appeal for "a little gaiety" in student life at the Procession meeting a few weeks ago. Mr. Scott's plea has not fallen on deaf ears. The S.R.C. had agreed to arrange a bigger, better and brighter August Week Festival, modelled on the lines of that held a few years ago, and has appointed Dr. Ian Marshman as Director of the Festival.

The Festival will run for the whole of the last week of this term culminating in the Annual University Procession on the Friday. There will be various activities each lunch-time during the week and also some at night.

A feature of the Festival will be an exhibition of the type of work done in their Faculties by the various Faculty Societies. This will be held in the George Murray Hall, and will be open every day from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This special edition of "On Dit" contains all the information about the Festival, and we suggest that you keep this copy with you next week so that you can see what is on each day. Members of the public are invited to the Faculty Societies' Exhibition, and to the Camera Club Exhibition, which will also be held for the whole week in the George Murray Library, and they can obtain copies of this "On Dit" free at those exhibitions. We ask all University students to publicise these exhibitions amongst their friends outside the University.

The Festival has involved a good deal of high pressure organisation, and all it needs now to make it a success is for you all to come along to the activities advertised in this issue and enjoy yourselves.
