

14 November 1931.

N. Wyld, Esq.,
The Industrial Institute,
162 Belgrave Road,
London, S.W. 1.

Dear Mr. Wyld:

I am sorry I did not acknowledge the papers you sent me; I ought to say however, that I have been ill during the autumn, and even had I been well should have very little time to spare beyond my own work.

I have always thought the work of your Institute exceedingly interesting and promising, and I shall be glad to see the publication in the J.R.S.S., with the discussion on the subject.

Yours sincerely,